

Symmetry Lab does not request or store any personally identifying information, and does not track or send any information about your behavior in the app.